

Mikhail Korneev

Skills

- Coding: r (dplyr, tidyr, ggplot2), python (matplotlib, pandas), Stata.
- Data Analysis: statistical modelling, descriptive statistics, data visualisation.
- Teaching: individual and group tutoring, assignment assessment, materials development.
- Research: quasi-experimental techniques, advanced quantitative methods, surveys.

Work experience

Research Assistant, 09.2025 – present

DPIR, Oxford

- Co-authored a 30-page report for the European Commission with my supervisor Prof. Petra Schleiter on the role of businesses in democracy, providing practical policy recommendations.

Teaching Assistant, 01.2026 – 03.2026

Oxford Internet Institute, Oxford

- Prepared R tutorials, designing hands-on exercises in data processing, analysis, and visualisation to assist graduate students in developing their research projects.
- Led weekly TA sessions explaining complex concepts in statistical theory and their coding applications, helping students to develop advanced data analysis skills.

Researcher, 03.2025 – 09.2025

IPSOS Group, Moscow (freelance)

- Authored a 30-page analytical report for the Tretyakov Gallery museum, synthesising polling data into actionable insights, enabling the client to refine their marketing and media strategy.

Researcher, 10.2022 – 10.2023

Bright Blue think tank, London

- Led a 10,000-word migration policy study, designing and executing an original survey, delivering data-driven recommendations that supported evidence-based advocacy.

Education

Oxford University, 2025 – present

DPhil in Politics

- Analyse the impact of participatory and deliberative institutions on the quality of local governance using advanced causal inference frameworks and regression-based approaches.

London School of Economics, 2023 – 2024

MSc in Political Science and Political Economy

- Graduated with Distinction.
- Relevant courses: Applied Quantitative Methods, Political Economy, Game Theory.
- Thesis topic: The Impact of Government Unity of Local Government Efficiency.

Durham University, 2019 – 2022

BA in Philosophy, Politics and Economics

- Graduated with First Class Honours.